01. URBAN ENVIRONMENT

BELVAL, A MONUMENT BUT ABOVE ALL A PLACE OF THE FUTURE

1 The blast furnaces of Belval (A & B) are preserved as a national monument, the last of their kind in Luxembourg. They are the landmarks of an important part of the country's history. But Belval is not only a national monument; it is one of the biggest and most ambitious urban development areas in Europe at the moment. On approximately 120 hectares, research, studies, work, leisure, shopping, living and culture are contributing to a multifunctional environment.

A STRIKING ARCHITECTURAL HERITAGE

2 At the beginning of the 20th century, Esch desired to develop its economic role to match that of the political capital, Luxembourg-City. Plans for urbanization were initiated in 1906. In 1924, the renowned German town planner Joseph Stübgen extended the plan and created new quarters. In addition, the arts prospered to complement the flourishing city. The project managers, having their origins in Germany, Belgium, Italy and Luxembourg, incorporated many traditional elements from these countries into their designs. A detailed brochure in 4 languages is available at the tourist information office (D'Escher Infofabrik, 85 rue de l'Alzette).

A MULTITUDE OF SHOPPING POSSIBILITIES

RUE DE L'ALZETTE – THE LONGEST PEDESTRIAN STREET OF LUXEMBOURG

3 In the centre of Esch, the Rue de l'Alzette and the surrounding streets offer many opportunities for all shopping lovers and every budget. This artery links the main squares of the former "Steel Metropolis", the Place de l'Hôtel de Ville (Town Hall Square) and the Place de la Résistance (Resistance Square). The two squares accommodate numerous terraces, benches and an underground car park each. They regularly host events like the weekly market, annual fairs, the Christmas Market, the celebrations of the National Day and flea markets.

NATURE RESERVE ELLERGRONN

2 The nature reserve Ellergronn is located in an area of 110 hectares in the southern part of Esch. As the extraction works stopped in the former opencast mine, the area was left and many habitats with an enormous biodiversity developed there. Today, the area consists of mainly calcareous beech forests, several ponds, an alder-ash grove and dry grasslands that are typical for the region. A visitor centre, hosted in the buildings of the former Cockerill-mine, is the starting point for several trails through nature and offers many activities all over the year. It is designed to give insight into the rich nature of the region.

05. POINTS OF INTEREST, SIGHTS AND TOURS

CITY OF SCIENCE EXHIBITION & BLAST FURNACES MUSEUM

1 Located in the former “Massenoire” building, the exhibition “Belval & More” presents the City of Science project, providing a historical and urban overview of the development in the southern region of Luxembourg. You can discover the equipment required to produce cast iron and climb the 180 steps to the 40 m viewing platform at the furnace top. From there, you can enjoy a breath taking view of the new urban districts of the Belval site, Esch and its surroundings.

KUFA'S URBAN ART

4 Created in 2014 by the Kulturfabrik and the City of Esch, the project initially aimed to embellish the walls of the KuFa, but it has gradually spread throughout the city and currently has more than 40 artworks in Esch and all over the Greater Region. Over the years, local and international artists have been invited to create temporary or permanent murals. In addition to this artistic aspect, Kufa's Urban Art Esch organizes numerous educational and awareness-raising activities. Do not hesitate to visit our open-air museum!

NATIONAL RESISTANCE MUSEUM

5 Through a series of photographs, objects and art works, the museum retraces Luxembourg's history between 1940 and 1945, from the Nazi oppression through the population's reactions and up to its liberation. A 2nd section covers the Nazi repression and the concentration camp system, as well as the fate of Luxembourg's Jews.

A temporary exhibition space allows for the presentation of topics regarding the 1933/1940-1945 era, as well as current issues related to the resistance to human rights violations or to citizenship education.

VISITOR CENTRE ELLERGRONN & MUSEUM OF THE COCKERILL MINE

6 The visitor centre Ellergonn is situated about 2 km south of the city centre, near the same-named nature reserve. Hosted in the buildings of the former Cockerill-mine, it is the starting point for several trails through nature and offers many activities all over the year. One of the houses hosts a museum where traditional mining utensils like mine lamps, drills and other tools are displayed. In addition to this impressive collection, a photographic archive showcases the arduousness of mine work. A replica of a worker accommodation and a blacksmith's shop may also be seen.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH

7 Being the oldest and the most important catholic church of Esch, St. Joseph is also the only one open for visits outside of mass. It was built by the architect Charles Arendt between 1873 and 1877: this French neo-gothic church is reminiscent of the cathedral Meulin and Sainte Trinité. Other churches are Saint Henri, Sacré Coeur and Marie-Reine.

08. WHAT TO DO IN THE SURROUNDINGS?

THE NATIONAL MINING MUSEUM IN RUMELANGE

The idea to found a mining museum goes back to 1970. At this time, former miners convinced the City Hall of Rumelange to transform the mine called Walert, which had been closed in 1963, into a museum. Since its modernisation in 2002, the museum presents the work of the miners, as well as the tools, machines and equipment that they used for the extraction of iron ore in a lively way. The major part of the collection is showcased in the underground galleries of the mine. Tools and machines give evidence of more than a century of technological evolution. Thanks to this spectacular way of presentation, the visitor gets a deep insight into the nature of the mining work.

HOW TO ARRIVE?

The easiest and most affordable way to travel to Esch is the train which goes every 15 minutes from Luxembourg-City on weekdays and a little less frequently in the evenings, on the weekends and on public holidays. Esch has two railway stations, Belval-Université and Esch-centre, from which you can take all bus lines connecting Esch to other cities of the region. During the weekends, the train and busses also go in the night.

If you prefer using your personal car, Esch is directly connected to the motorway, namely via the A4 (direction Luxembourg-City), the A13 (direction Pétange and Saarland/Germany) and the A30 (direction France).

The airport of Luxembourg, "Findel", is at 27 km from Esch-sur-Alzette. By car, it takes you less than 30 minutes to get there, but you'll have to calculate one hour by public transportation.

THE CENTRE OF THE GREATER REGION

The Greater Region is located in the historical heart of Europe, at less than 300 km from Paris, Brussels, Rotterdam and Frankfurt, and less than 600 km from London, Berlin, Prague and Milan. Don't miss exceptional cities like Metz, Nancy, Trier and Saarbrücken, which are less than one hour away from Esch. On weekends, the train and busses also go during the night.
